His first performance in Paris brought forth the following rave review from the respected journal, The Strad A concert with the Paris Conservatoire Orchestra...included a splendidly restrained performance with Narciso Yepes of Joaquín Rodrigo's Guitar Concerto. Its melodies, idiom and textures spring from Rodrigo's deep knowledge and love of Spanish culture, folklore and history and his distinctive musical voice and deft individual handling of orchestral sonority make for a work which is both modern and, as Rodrigo put it, "neo-casticisma"—"faithful to tradition". Known in the brass band world as 'Concerto de Orange Juice', it has permeated the movies (Brassed Off), and television and radio advertising to an extraordinary degree.
